TRAIN LOUTS

Woman bottled for defending pensioner

by NAZIA DEWJI

ndewji@london.newsquest.co.uk

A Good Samaritan was bottled by two drunken louts after defending a pensioner from their lewd abuse.

The 29-year-old intervened when she saw the elderly lady being taunted by two intoxicated women on a train from Wimbledon to Chessington South.

According to British Transport Police (BTP) the drunken women threatened to assault the woman when she challenged their behaviour.

They then shoved her and struck her on the side of the head with a bottle when she tried to leave the train at Chessington South.

Investigating officer PC Wayne Wabara said: "It is appalling that the women attacked the victim simply for being a Good Samaritan and for challenging their loutish behaviour."

"We have requested CCTV footage from the train and are making inquiries to try to identify the women responsible. Please get in touch if you know who they are, or have any information that could help us."

BTP said the women were also abusive to passengers on the carriage when they boarded the train at Wimbledon between 6.15pm and 7pm on Wednesday, March 14.

The attack left the victim in pain, but fortunately uninjured.

Both women are thought to be their late teens or early 20s.

The first woman was of mixed race, 5ft 8in, and of average build with short black hair. She was wearing a black jacket, denim shorts, black leggings and boots.

The second woman was white, 5ft 6in, and had very long blonde hair with a fringe. She was wearing brown shorts, black leggings and boots.

Both were carrying bottles of alcohol.

Anyone with information should contact BTP on Freefone 0800 405040, quoting reference B7/LSA of March 19. Alternatively call Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Celebrate Food with our new site

Masterchef winner Shelina Permallo has lent her support to the Kingston Guardian's new Food website – the most comprehensive guide to restaurants in south London – which launched this week.

Whatever tickles your taste buds, from Indian takeaways to the best of British, from Mexican cantinas to fine French cuisine, you will find it on Food's database, along with hundreds of other restaurants and takeaways across your area.

And you can slash the bill by using the website's money-off vouchers at some of your favourite restaurants.

Food also brings you the latest culinary news, restaurant reviews, recipes and cocktail ideas.

Plus there is PubSpy, a witty bar-side view of hostels and advice from Dave, our resident amateur chef, will make dinner parties a doddle.

With great competitions and prizes kingstonguardian/food is your essential guide to all things food and drink.

To celebrate the launch of Food, Britain's newly-crowned food queen exclusively shares her recipe for mango creme brulee and reveals where she shops and eats.

Care home residents give new digs a big thumbs-up

by DAVID LINDSELL

dlindsell@london.newsquest.co.uk

Adults with learning difficulties have been given a sneak peek inside their new home as the final touches are finished off, little more than a week before they move in.

Builders have been working tirelessly to convert the derelict White Hart pub in Hook into a new home for the Fircroft Trust charity.

They were still putting the finishing touches to the new Firs Court when the residents, staff and the Kingston Guardian were given a guided tour of their new rooms, kitchen and living space on Friday, March 19.

Spacious rooms, lifts and hoists for those who have mobility problems and a garden were the talking points.

Pleased as punch: Fircroft residents visit their new home

Chief executive Kay Harris said: "What has been so nice coming today with everyone is seeing how excited everyone has become.

"They did not expect it to be so big. Everyone has commented on the garden as they are such a social lot."

Resident David Scott, who lives in Draycott House, and offered up his collection of football shirts to help raise funds, said: "It is very impressive, fantastic. I can't wait to move."

Delphi Caulder, who was delighted she would not have to queue to get to the bathroom any longer, said: "It is fantastic. I'm really looking forward to moving in. I have been a bit nervous about it."

Karen Stockham, 51, a support worker at Maple Lodge, said: "It is better than I ever thought it would be.

"We are really happy for the residents."

Fellow support worker Kizzy Darko, 27, said: "They can go outside in summer and sit where they want to sit."

Care manager Richard Weir said: "The space is amazing. You have a group of people who have lived on top of each other happily but with limited space. I think we will still be able to keep the homeliness about it. It is people that make the atmosphere.

The charity expects to start moving the first residents in on March 27.

In the flame game

Specially selected:
James Spicer will carry the Olympic torch through Redhill

Deadlinepix KT65763

A record-breaking teenager who conquered Everest is among 8,000 torchbearers cherry-picked to carry the Olympic torch on its journey across the country this summer.

George Atkinson became the youngest person to reach the top of the 8,848m mountain when he climbed it in time for his 17th birthday last year.

The Surbiton teenager, who is studying for his A-levels,

by NAZIA DEWJI

ndewji@london.newsquest.co.uk

will now help carry the flame on its 8,000-mile journey across the United Kingdom.

The London Organising Committee for the Olympic and Paralympic Games received thousands of public nominations last year before a panel selected the lucky torchbearers.

Ex Coombe Hill School

pupil and Kingston University graduate James Spicer, 23, of Gloucester Road in Kingston, was also nominated by a friend for his community and voluntary work with young people.

He will be carrying the torch through Redhill on July 20.

Mr Spicer, who hopes to become a teacher, said: "I wasn't allowed to tell anyone about being a torchbearer. It was all under wraps.

"Finally letting people know is great. I feel ecstatic about it.

"I will be training to get my stamina up and get myself in the best possible shape.

"I feel proud and I am looking forward to it."

Torchbearers will begin their journeys from May 19 through to July 27 when the torch arrives at the Olympic stadium for the lighting of the cauldron at the opening ceremony.

Putting town on map

The torch relay will pass through major landmarks around the borough before making its way to the Olympic village, an official route plan has revealed.

Hundreds of onlookers will cheer on the torchbearers as they begin their journey from the Hook Centre in Chessington at 8.22am on Tuesday, July 24.

The torch will pass Surrey County Hall, the Rose theatre, Guildhall and Kingston's historic Market Place along its travels.

Market Place traders have expressed support for the relay coming through the town centre.

Steve Mama, secretary of Kingston Market Traders' Association, said: "This is a great opportunity to publicise the market, which has been in decline.

"We fully cooperate with anything that puts Kingston on the map."

The torch will be in Kingston for about one hour and 20 minutes before it is handed over to neighbouring Richmond at about 9.45am.

Jerry Irving, interim chief executive of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, stressed the importance of businesses planning ahead.

He said: "Businesses are being encouraged to plan ahead to get supplies and extra stock to take advantage of the thousands of visitors to the area and the potential increase in sales.

"Inevitably there will be disruptions with traffic restrictions and road closures but this is with any sporting event.

"Having the Olympics here is special and it won't happen again in most of our lifetimes."

The coalition Government is also set to relax Sunday trading laws for an eight-week period during the summer games.

High achiever: George Atkinson will also transport the symbolic flame

Kingston Mosque trial

Nine men face charges of attacking Kingston Mosque

Defendants' evidence could have been lost

Evidence in the Kingston Mosque attack trial may have been destroyed by Kingston police's property store, a court has heard.

Nine men denied being part of a violent mob that chanted English Defence League (EDL) slogans as elderly worshippers cowered inside Kingston Mosque during the attack on November 21, 2010.

Lead detective in the case Detective Sergeant Andrew Morrow told Kingston Crown Court evidence including clothing taken from three of the defendants and two sticks recovered at the mosque, could not be found.

He said it appeared another detective who took the evidence from those three defendants had agreed their destruction earlier this year.

Earlier in the trial the men accused of the attack told police they had come to the town for a peaceful EDL protest against extremist Islam.

In a police interview Terry Earl, who was arrested walking away from East Road, said he got detached from his friend, followed a group out of the King's Tun pub up Richmond Road thinking they were going to the station before seeing "carnage", the court heard.

He said: "I just saw things happening. I was taken in by it all. Your body just freezes and you don't know what happened. I can't believe that was a mosque."

The court was also shown CCTV footage from inside Tesco Metro which they claimed was defendant David Morris buying the bacon later thrown at the mosque.

In his police interview he told police he had stood on the opposite side of the road to the mosque with a friend but walked off when others started throwing stones, shouting and throwing food.

He said: "I was there when it kicked off but I didn't do nothing. I was just like looking on. It ain't right, is it really?"

Martin Pottle, 23, of Hanworth, David Morris, 21, of Epsom, Alfie

Wallace, 19, of Shepperton, Terry Earl, 32, of Northolt, Adam Khalfan, 19, of Ashford, Paul Abley, 24, of Feltham, Karl Matthews, 21, of Brentford, Jordan Ellingham, 21, of Feltham, and James Stacey, 19, of Shepperton, all deny violent disorder, affray and racially-aggravated damage.

Mosque accused denies telling lies

A man accused of taking part in an attack on Kingston Mosque denied making up lies to clear his name, a court has heard.

The prosecution claimed all nine men on trial at Kingston Crown Court could be identified on CCTV walking toward the mosque in a large group on November 21, 2010.

Martin Pottle, 23, of Feltham, interrogated by police on January 6, 2011, was accused in his interview of making up a story about walking to Sainsbury's with a friend, whose name he could not remember, so his friend could top-up his phone.

During the interview he was shown a photograph of a man who police suggested was wearing a hooded jacket similar to his, but Mr Pottle said he was wearing a hooded jumper, not a hooded jacket, the court heard.

After being told by one of the interviewing officers: "I don't believe a word you're saying," he replied: "If I was going to do anything... would I have had my hood down?"

Alfie Wallace, 19, of Shepperton, made no comment to police questions at first after his arrest on December 7, 2010.

He denied an image of a man on a still from CCTV footage was him when shown it by police, the court heard.

Asked about why people in the CCTV footage might be covering their faces, he said: "It's cold."

Jordan Ellingham, 21, of Feltham, said he went on the march to be "a bit patriotic", heard people say "let's go to the mosque" and was "intrigued" so went to East Road, the jury heard.

The trial continues.

Concerns raised at inquest

The River Thames claimed two lives on the warm weekend last year, sparking urgent calls for greater river safety, which were renewed during the inquest.

William Carus, 17, died after his boat capsized during Richmond Canoe Club's annual regatta in Twickenham, the day after Mr Newman got into difficulty swimming in Kingston.

The two deaths came three months after law student Niall Pawsey, 20, drowned when he swam in the Thames after drinking in the Kingston Mill pub.

It also came six weeks after staff from Teddington lifeboat station helped train bar and restaurant staff from the steps where Mr Newman entered the water.

During the inquest, Mr Newman's mother called on the coroner to pass on concerns that more could be done to improve river safety, particularly near pubs.

Teddington lifeboatman Andrew Butterfield warned of the dangers of drunkenly swimming in the Thames, which even on hot days can be close to freezing.

'Hero' failed to save drunk river swimmer

by CLARE BUCHANAN

buchanan@london.newsquest.co.uk

Heroic rescue attempts failed to save a drunk property manager who tried to swim across the River Thames, an inquest heard.

Laurence Newman died despite desperate bids by members of the public to pull him from the water and resuscitate him after he disappeared while swimming near Kingston Bridge.

The 45-year-old Surbiton man jumped into the river near the Gazebo pub, where he had been drinking, and, egged on by crowds of people enjoying the sunny weather, swam across the river.

Despite being a strong swimmer he began to struggle three-quarters of the way across due to the strong current and high level of alcohol in his system, West London Coroner's Court heard.

Philip Green, 34, from Putney, dived into the water to try to save Mr Newman and a boat of people, including a trainee nurse, joined the rescue effort at about 7.50pm on Saturday, July 30, 2011.

At the inquest on Tuesday, March 13, coroner Alison Thompson commended the rescue efforts

Hero: Philip Green dived into the river

as well as the ambulance service and Kingston Hospital, where Mr Newman died the following day.

She said: "Philip Green was something of a hero putting himself in danger.

"I think you will agree that's a brave thing to do, to go into the river there, and he swam the same distance across.

"The whole episode was sadly seen by a large number of people and what is clear is that a lot of people were involved in rescuing him."

The inquest heard Mr Newman was under water for between six to eight minutes and that he had 269mg of alcohol per 100mg in his blood, which is more than three times the drink-drive limit.

Miss Thompson said: "He had already, when he was rescued, inhaled the river contents and his heart had stopped.

"He succumbed due to the combined effect of alcohol, the low water temperature and the strong current."

The inquest heard Mr Newman had a volatile relationship with his estranged wife, who appeared drunk and upset after the incident, but the police and court had not managed to contact her since.

But Mr Newman's mother, Pamela Newman, said she had spoken to her the day before the inquest and did not believe she would be attending.

The cause of death was recorded as immersion and as a misadventure, on the basis that it was a deliberate act with unintended consequences.

Burglars steal medals from war hero's home

A war hero was targeted by burglars who stole his treasured medals as he slept.

Eight medals were stolen from retired Major Leslie Grout, including two campaign medals for north Africa and Burma and his MBE medal.

The 99-year-old widower,

by NAZIA DEWJI

ndewji@kingstonguardian.co.uk who served in the King's Royal Rifle Corps, mainly in north Africa, during the Second World War during his 40-year military career, also lost about £380 of cash during the raid on his New Malden home during the early hours of March 5.

His stepdaughter Jean Davies, 83, who lives in the same road, said: "They came in the back way and broke the door.

"They ransacked the whole house except the front room, where he was asleep. He slept through the whole thing."

Mrs Davies was alerted to the incident after her stepfather's carer turned up to find the house in a mess.

She said: "The carer rang me at about 7.30am and I went straight over.

"He didn't quite know what happened. It hadn't hit him I don't think. He was hurt that the medals were gone."

Maj Grout, who is a great-grandfather, was married for 75 years and has been living alone since his wife died two years ago. He retired in the 1960s.

Anyone with information should call Detective Constable Graeme Thurlow on 020 8721 5892.

BIG CALL: An ambitious mother running for London Mayor is backing a controversial third Heathrow runway.

Siobhan Benita, from New Malden, has called on the Government to give the go ahead to the runway, which she said was crucial to west London jobs and prosperity. She said: "A third runway will bring thousands of new jobs to west London, which has seen a slowdown in job creation because of the focus on east London and the London Olympic facilities."

The independent candidate's call is in stark contrast to that of Richmond and North Kingston MP Zac Goldsmith, who has campaigned against a third runway for several years.

Dentistry in Focus with Dr Riten Patel (GDC-77930) – Removing metal fillings with Cerec technology

Are metal fillings ruining your smile?

Have you ever noticed a mouth full of black or metal fillings when somebody smiles?

Is the sight of metal fillings ruining your smile? Do you shy away from the cameras when at social events, and cover your mouth when talking to other people?

Replacement of amalgam (mercury based) fillings is one of the easiest ways to improve your smile.

At The Mulberry we practice amalgam-free dentistry and use safe techniques for their replacement with tooth coloured fillings. Depending on how many fillings need replacing this treatment can be completed in as little as 40 minutes.

The end result – a natural looking smile! If you have metal fillings that you want replacing give the Mulberry a call to book your free cosmetic smile consultation with Dr. Patel (GDC-77930) today.

This revolutionary advance in private cosmetic dentistry is now available at The Mulberry.

CODE MAKEOVER WINNERS

CODE THE SALON

Code The Salon held a makeover competition, and here we feature one of our four lucky winners. The aim was to show how Code can re-style your look with expert cutting and advanced colour techniques.

Here we speak to the Art team at Code The Salon, and find out how the hair make-over shoot went, and show you the before and 'after' shots.

Peter Georgiou, Style Director at Code The Salon says "We went for a vintage bob with shattered layers, going shorter was never going to be a problem with Tracey's hair type, and with this cut, styling at home would take no longer than 10 minutes".

Laurance Withers, Graduate Stylist at Code The Salon said "This make over would not be complete without lifting Tracey's natural hair colour a couple of shades, to create a new overall colour which we call Sunset Copper, then a slice of blonde was added to the front to enhance the shape around the face.

Make up was done by Sarah Sheldrick... "I started by giving Tracy a facial cleanse, and then used neutral tones to give her a natural look and enhance her features"

Row over school's relocation

Contentious plans to temporarily shift a primary school on to a playing field have reignited concerns over traffic, safety and overcrowding.

If approved, Christ Church Junior School, in Elm Road, New Malden, will be relocated into

by CLARE BUCHANAN

seven temporary classrooms on the playing fields behind Mount Road for a year while the school is rebuilt.

The Church of England school was declared dangerous after wooden support beams were severely affected by damp in November last year.

Some pupils were taught off-site for half a term while steel structures were installed but engineers, who now visit every two weeks, said these would not last more than a year.

Mount Road resident Shaun Barrett said he was horrified by the plans as the area already experienced traffic chaos during drop-off and pick-up times associated with Christ Church and Corpus Christi schools.

He said: "This is supposed to be just a temporary measure – but the chaos that will ensue gives rise to significant concern for the safety of children and all the residential stakeholders."

Councillor Liz Green said the council would try its best to alleviate traffic problems and said alternative sites, including Christ Church vicarage and Cocks Crescent, had been considered, but were not suitable.

She said: "We really don't have a lot of choice. We don't have anywhere else really that is sensible to do it."

"We have to get the children out at the end of the year."

"It's a case of bearing with us for now."

Coun Green said work would need to start on the temporary site at Easter.

It is hoped the move will free up the junior school site, allowing for a rebuild to take place, the details of which are to be decided.

The infant school will not be affected.

Pupils dig in to grow their own

Schoolchildren are being encouraged to consider the environment as part of an ongoing sustainability programme.

Teachers at Park Hill School have been working with young children from nursery upwards to reach Silver Echo status after previously receiving the bronze award for their efforts.

The school also has a garden where children can grow vegetables.

Plans: Christ Church Junior School could be relocated. Coun Liz Green, inset

Appeal did well

A charity that raised more than £2,000 over the festive period will be deciding what to do with the donations later this month.

Chessington Youth Action was able to set up a wishing well appeal at the grotto of Chessington Garden Centre alongside a number of collection box points in the run up to Christmas last year.

A total of £2,461 was donated from customers at the garden centre.

Chairman of Chessington Youth Action Lee Mills, 50, said: "We could not have even hoped to raise that much money in several years so it is great."

Cash waste

What is going on with the College roundabout.

Paper planes in metal? How much is that lot costing?

At a time of supposed strict economic conditions where has the money come from for this rubbish? Services are being cut, jobs lost, roads go unattended, but the Kingston can waste money on decorating a roundabout.

Why not buy a few Barbara Hepworth sculptures to decorate the roundabout in Surbiton – obviously money is no object. Get real.

RCH MUMFORD
Cranes Park

Our heritage

In response to Mr Mumford (Cash waste, above), thank you for emailing me.

I personally like the sculpture and think portraying our aviation heritage in Kingston is to be welcomed.

The cost is being met fully by the Mayor of London through his outer London fund not Kingston Council.

If you wish to take the matter up with him, Kingston's GLA constituency member is the Conservative Richmond Councillor, Tony Arbour.

COUN LIZ GREEN
St Mark's Ward, Surbiton

Against walkway madness

Many of us have been in the situation where our sat-nav suggests we go down a no-entry road.

This April, Kingston Council seems determined to push us down a no-entry road and directly into the arms of the Tolworth Broadway Project

What is it? It involves putting a walkway down the middle of the Broadway to Tolworth station and beyond.

This will mean adding pedestrian crossings to the Toby Jug A3 roundabout. The idea being that pedestrians will be able to roam freely across Tolworth.

We should be concerned for two reasons.

Tolworth roundabout is one of the busiest in the country – 112,000-plus vehicles in each direction in the A3, 54,000 in Kingston Road and 29,000 in Tolworth Broadway.

Research on Kingston Council's website, reviewing parking and deliveries to shops, supports this.

No studies have been done to understand the effect of whacking pedestrian crossings all over the roundabout, cutting the speed limit and number of lanes on the Broadway.

I have no doubt all of you have sat frustrated in traffic caused by the bottleneck at Tolworth. These changes will add more frustration.

Secondly this project may come as a surprise to many.

I only found out two days ago via word of mouth that a final decision meeting was held on February 21. At this meeting Liberal Democrat councillors refused to budge from their plans and decided to plough on regardless of public opinion.

In the council's regeneration strategy document, which sets out the entire rationale for this project, they cite a questionnaire sent to residents as one of the primary justifications for this project. 361 residents responded out of a population in Tolworth alone of about 20,000.

The council should be ashamed it has conveniently failed to solicit public opinion before embarking on a project funded by our taxes.

So what do we need to do?

Disruptive work is scheduled to begin in April so there is no time for delay.

Let us not let the council push through these plans until full research on traffic flows has been undertaken and most residents consulted.

Email the following asking them to intervene before it is too late:

Richard Hudson, one of the council members against this proposal (richard.hudson@councillors.kingston.gov.uk), or Edward Davey via his website (edwarddavey.co.uk).

It has been requested Kingston Council responds to these concerns. A failure to do this will be an admission of implementing a failed proposal. I should state I have no affiliation with any political party. I am just sick of our taxes being used without a second thought for us.

VIK SAGAR
Via email

Not a party matter but one of common sense

You still seem to be getting letters complaining about the Tolworth project some time after the scrutiny committee passed it. Strangely there seems to be none in support.

This leads to the question, who actually wants it apart from the five Liberal Democrat councillors who voted in favour and those involved in its construction.

I went to the fateful and angry December neighbourhood committee and scrutiny panel meetings. Evidence was presented that there were doubts about safety – it would cause congestion, be expensive, with on-going costs.

Unfortunately the panel voted on strict party lines.

This is surely not a party matter but one of common sense, and the original decision under scrutiny had abstentions from the current administration. The scrutiny panel's composition does not include independent members to review evidence so it was all a bit pointless.

A hastily arranged petition of more than 500 residents was also disregarded, which makes a mockery of the Government's Localism Act.

ROGER SMITH
Tolworth

Safety of pupils will be at risk

I was horrified to hear a planning application had been put in for Christ Church School, involving temporary classrooms on the playing fields behind Mount Road in New Malden, Surrey.

This is supposed to be a temporary measure, but the chaos that will ensue gives rise to concern for the safety of children and residential stakeholders.

This area experiences traffic chaos every weekday – and Saturday mornings due to school-related activities. We have seen damage to vehicles and failure of visitors to comply with the Highway Code.

By funnelling all these parents and children via the Mount Road access for the temporary classrooms the council will be putting the safety of everyone at risk.

Slight slip-up pulling fish out of frying pan

A fireman who saved pet goldfish from a flat fire that left three friends homeless was taken to hospital after he tripped over a shoe during the rescue.

The firefighter was taken to Kingston Hospital after he hurt his ankle saving the lives of the beloved fish from the property in New Malden High Street on Monday, March 12.

Luckily the three women who live in the flat were at work at the time of the blaze.

But the fire, which is believed to have been caused by an electrical fault, caused severe smoke damage and has left them unable to return home.

A lettings manager for Your-Move, which leases the property, said the friends had been left shaken by the experience.

About 20 firefighters tackled the blaze, which was spotted by a postman, in Sussex

by CLARE BUCHANAN

cbuchanan@london.newsquest.co.uk

Place, above Barnardo's charity shop.

New Malden fire station watch manager Steve Preston said: "He [the injured firefighter] is fine. He went to hospital and it was x-rayed and found not to be broken but it blew up like a pumpkin. He's back at work now.

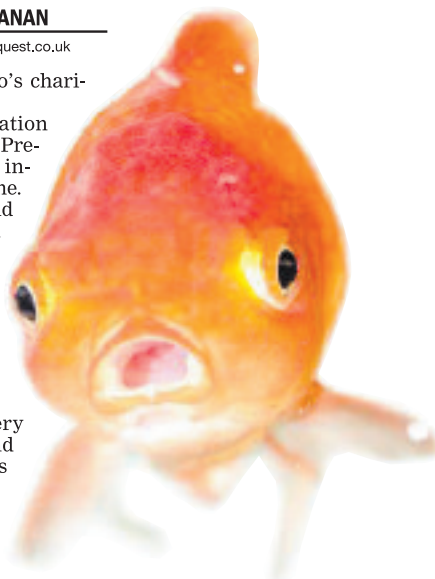

"The actual fire damage was only really around the area where the fire was.

"But there was very thick black smoke and the whole flat was damaged. It's absolutely covered in black soot.

"We did manage to save the goldfish and the bowl. The three ladies were happy their pet fish were saved, along with their TV."

An ambulance and firefighters attended the incident at about 10.15am and emergency services had left the scene by 1.30pm.

Watch manager Preston thanked the postman and the lettings agent for raising the alarm and providing keys for access to the flat.

He also warned residents of the importance of having a working smoke alarm - which the flat had.

Kind words: Mamodsafi Amodmia

'An honest kind man'

Uncle Ali, as Hajee Mubarak Ali was known as an elder of the mosque, was born on September 17, 1923, in East Africa, where he met and married Muneera. He had five daughters, five sons, 29 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. His daughter Fawziah Islam, who married Cat Stevens, said: "The young children in the mosque used to come and read the Koran and they loved him."

Another daughter, Dr Faiza Ali, said: "Although my father was a traditional and religious man he was actually very modern. The mosque's first Imam, Mamodsafi Amodmia, 52, who returned to lead prayers at the funeral, said: "He was a very honest, kind man and treated me like a son."

Tributes to man who helped found mosque

by DAVID LINDSELL

lindsell@london.newsquest.co.uk

Cat Stevens joined hundreds of mourners to honour the memory of Kingston Muslim Association's founding father.

Hajee Mubarak Ali, elder and trustee and founder of the mosque, died aged 88 on Wednesday, March 7, at St George's Hospital after a long illness.

Worshippers paid tribute to him on Friday, March 9, as the man who brought a mosque to Kingston.

Two police motorbikes led the funeral procession to the Muslim section of Surbiton cemetery where he was buried.

His son-in-law, Yusuf Islam, known as Cat Stevens before his conversion, said: "He was a mountain of a man and when mountains disappear, the scenery changes. That's what it is like now."

Sir Iqbal Sacranie, 59, former secretary general of the Muslim Council who lives in New Malden, said: "It is a very sad day for the community, not just for Kingston but I think wherever he was known."

The ability of Mr Ali, who worked for the Ministry of Defence in procurement, to provide interest-free loans was vital to the mosque's founding members being able to buy the former Royal British Legion building.

Sad day: Mourners gather for the funeral of Hajee Mubarak Ali in Kingston

Respect: Inspector Jaiye Warwick-Saunders with colleagues

Rashid Laher, former chairman of the mosque and a retired British Army major, said: "Without his crucial support we wouldn't have been able to get our feet in the door."

Kingston Mosque's community liaison officer Rizwan Khaliq said: "It was due to his vision this mosque was built and around the mosque a community emerged."

"The best thing we can do is build upon his legacy in a positive way."

Mr Ali was given a mayor's award a few years ago for his role in the community by then mayor Shiraz Mirza.

John Azah, director of Kingston Race and Equalities Council, said Mr Ali had been involved in the formation of Kingston's first racial understanding council.

He said: "He was, in my book, one of the people who did so much for Kingston but was never really seen."

Kingston Inspector Jaiye Warwick-Saunders, representing borough commander Chief Superintendent Martin Greenslade at the funeral, said the police escort was "a mark of respect from the Metropolitan Police Service and an acknowledgement of the service Mr Ali provided to the community".

Therapy concern For Down's children

Families of children with Down's syndrome said their children have missed out on speech therapy because of a lack of therapists.

Kevin Burchell, 49, said his son Carlos had not been able to receive help at Moor Lane Children's Centre in Chessington since he was born.

The Kingston University senior researcher, who lives in New Malden, said: "We feel very disappointed."

According to Kingston Council's website, the service provides assessments, staff training for mainstream schools, training for parents and carers and provides a "seamless pathway" from early support into school.

A Kingston Council spokesman said limited funding meant resources for the service meant that young people with swallowing and choking difficulties had been prioritised.

Museum in appeal to relatives of top biker

by CLARE BUCHANAN

cbuchanan@london.newsquest.co.uk

Readers are being called on to help reunite the family of a British gold star racer with his letters archiving his experiences.

Victor Hood, who lived in Tenynson Avenue, New Malden, competed with the British Motor-Cycle Racing Club at Brooklands race track in Weybridge before the Second World War.

He was one of only 180 riders to be awarded the British Motor-Cycle Racing Club gold star for his win in a five-lap competition, in which he raced at speeds of more than 100mph, in June, 25, 1938.

The former RAF captain's motorbike has been at the Norfolk Motorcycle Museum for 18 years where a volunteer recently discovered 12 letters sent to a Norwich man who bought the Rudge TT replica.

Now Andrew Neall, from the Norfolk motorcycle museum that houses Captain Hood's old Rudge, said: "We would like to find out more about Vic and his racing career. Did he race again after the war?"

"We would be delighted to let any descendants have copies of the letters. They are motorcycle and social history to us but family history to them."

Capt Hood raced almost exclusively at Brooklands between 1935 and 1939 and took part in 16 races on his Rudge motorcycle. His last appearance before serving his

Major among mayor's recipients

Ex-Army serviceman Major Ron Morris was among 12 people recognised for their contribution to Kingston during the mayor's awards.

Major Morris, 85, was recognised for his influential work in increasing the money raised from the Malden and Coombe Poppy Appeal, which raised £35,160 last month – an increase of more than £6,000 on last year.

The member of the Surrey Royal British Legion County Committee said: "I think it's a great honour. 'It's nice to think you're appreciated although I do feel there were other far better qualified people to receive it."

Lisa Gagliani was also handed an award at the event on Thursday, March 8, at the Guildhall, for her work as chief executive at Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

Ms Gagliani, who is chief executive of the Bright Ideas Trust, a charitable organisation set up to support young people trying to establish themselves in business and the world of work, started her business endeavours as a teenager helping at a Kingston market stall.

Among the winners was Gill Wood, who has a younger sister with Down's syndrome and is a trustee for Kingston Mencap. She received the award for her efforts in overseeing various new activities, leisure opportunities and clubs for people with learning disabilities.

War made rider sell his bike

Capt Hood wrote to Mr Moore thanking him for his decision to buy the Rudge motorbike from him, in August 1943.

He wrote: "This confounded war has unfortunately put me rather 'in the spot' so far as the Rudge is concerned as the very occasional and brief moments which I am able to snatch do not lend themselves too well to carefully and painstakingly assembling a racing machine in the way that I was accustomed to and I am somewhat anxious as to your feelings if this is going to be much of a delay."

Later in the same month, having shipped the bike to Mr Moore, he wrote again and said: "In my last letter posted yesterday I omitted to tell you that the railway company stated that it would not be possible to insure the machine in any way unless it were packed in a very extensive way and that was entirely beyond me in the time available as well as the absence of packing materials."

"So I sincerely trust it arrived safely?"

Time to change your mattress?

Most people sleep on it and pay the price.

A tired mattress can leave you feeling just as tired too

By Sandra Haynes

Is your mattress over 7 years old, saggy or just not as comfortable as it used to be? Putting off replacing it can lead to disturbed sleep, morning tiredness, stiff neck and back ache. In fact, it's the main reason for lack of sleep for most people – they just don't realize it.

Buying a new mattress might seem like an expense you can manage without but it's one of the most valuable things you can do to improve your health and general well being.

What happens to your old mattress over time?

The main problem is deteriorating support. Over time, the springs inside your mattress lose their firmness so they start to sag under your weight. Eventually they become so weakened they retain your shape creating dips and hollows across the surface of the mattress. It's this unevenness and lack of support that causes the body to toss and turn during the night. The lumpier it gets the more disturbed sleep you're likely to get.

The benefits of a new mattress to you

You'll literally notice the difference overnight! From the moment you lie on it to when you wake up in the morning, a new mattress will transform your whole body and your mood too.

- You'll sleep better for longer
- Fall asleep quicker and easier
- Wake up feeling far more refreshed
- Aches and pains will simply fade away
- Well rested you'll feel happier in yourself
- You'll find you have more energy
- Handle the stresses of the day much more easily

Right now, you'll PAY LESS to regain a good nights sleep with our EXTRA DISCOUNT SPECIAL OFFER!

ANIMAL FARM

PLAYERS' ANIMAL ANTICS

The old theatrical adage of never working with animals or children has not deterred the Ember Players from mounting a major spring production of Animal Farm.

Adapted by Sir Peter Hall from the novel by George Orwell, Animal Farm hits the newly-refurbished Walton Playhouse soon.

Director Anne Segall says: "I have a cast of 23 farmyard animals, but count myself lucky that they're all being played by humans."

"We're not using fancy dress or masks, I'm encouraging each member of the cast to study animal behaviour and build real characteristics into their performances."

In the quest for authenticity, the players got up close and personal with their animal counterparts at Godstone Farm on Sunday, March 11.

Neil Armstrong, who plays Boxer, bonded with Fly the horse.

He says: "Movements of a horse's head transmit different messages and I also picked up a lot from how they stand."

HERE AND NOW

Much-loved and prolific British actress Alison Steadman has been revealed as the next star to feature at the Rose, writes Clare Buchanan.

Steadman will showcase her talents in the revival of Michael Frayn's Here, which examines the way characters Phil and Cath construct their life together in a small studio flat. For them the whole past history of the universe has led to the here and now, and its whole future history will be determined by what they decide together.

Steadman recently enjoyed a West End run in Noel Coward's Blithe Spirit as the improbable clairvoyant Madame Arcati.

On stage she created the role of the monstrous Beverly in Mike Leigh's Abigail's Party and starred in The Rise and Fall of Little Voice, for which she won an Olivier Award.

Her films include Shirley Valentine and Mike Leigh's Life Is Sweet. Television work includes Fat Friends, The Singing Detective, and Gavin & Stacey.

Here by Michael Frayn, Rose Theatre, High Street, Kingston. April 19 to May 12, evenings, 7.30pm, matinees, 2.30pm, £14 to £45, 08444 821556, rosetheatrekingston.org.

Dress your home to sell

Beverley Morrison meets the Trinny and Susannah of the property world

If you want the best price for your home then you want to make sure it's presented to its best advantage.

Most people take less than a minute to make up their minds about a property at first viewing - that can mean the difference between a sale or no-sale, so first impressions really do count.

"People are buying into a lifestyle when they buy a new home," said professional home stager Sharon Johnston of Dressed2Sell in Kingston-Upon-Thames.

"They want to imagine themselves living there. They want the ideal - but if your home is cluttered, full of your things, or decorated in bright colours, it makes it harder for buyers to imagine themselves living there."

Dressed2Sell, run by working mums Sharon and Jane Cooper, who have nearly 10 years experience of advising home owners on how to make their properties look good. They've advised people in tiny flats and multi-million pound mansions.

If you want, they can give you a basic room-by-room report to help you make the improvements yourself, or they can project manage the entire refurbishment.

"You've got to invest to get the best price, but that doesn't always have to involve spending a lot of money on a complete refurbishment," said Sharon.

"A lot of it is just common-sense - you are moving and want to sell the house so you have to stop seeing it as your home and start seeing it as a commodity you need to sell. Start with a cull of the things you are not taking with you - or put anything which you can't find room for into storage."

Your estate agent can advise on the presentation of your home for sale or brochure pictures - and some invite Dressed2Sell to assist their clients.

But the advice offered by Sharon and Jane can often help sell properties that are stuck on the market, or bring owners prepared to invest a little to sell at a premium.

Dressed2Sell are offering readers an exclusive £25 off property reports, which start at £275, booked before the end of May.

For more information contact Jane Cooper: 07850 074048 or Sharon Johnston: 07775 915379 or visit www.dressed2sell.co.uk.

Are you a superstar?
Motoring Media Sales Consultant
Join a successful sales team.

Newsquest is proud of its publishing portfolio of products and services in South West London and Surrey. We have a vacancy based in our Sutton office for a part field part telesales media sales consultant.

The successful candidate will be responsible for managing a selection of our existing clients and their advertising needs, as well as developing a territory and building new business across our portfolio of online and in print products.

Whilst sales experience is desirable, it is not essential- however the successful candidate will be driven and passionate about their work, supported by the industry's outstanding sales training programme. Excellent customer service along with strong organisational skills and a full clean driving licence are a must.

A competitive salary package, company car and bonus structure is on offer to successful applicants. If you have these qualities, or have a background of success in sales, we look forward to hearing from you.

KINGSTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL

SCHOOL LIBRARIAN/LEARNING RESOURCE CENTRE MANAGER
 £27,000 - £35,000 plus generous pension contributions
 Full-time, term time only • Required from September 2012

Managing the day-to-day running of the School Library and contributing to the development of the Library as a Learning Resource Centre, you will promote leisure reading and independent learning amongst pupils.

A qualified Chartered Librarian with experience of using an online library management system, you will have comprehensive library experience and an understanding of e-technology. Furthermore, we will expect you to be innovative, forward thinking, and confident working with both staff and pupils in an extremely well resourced and busy library. The willingness to embrace new technologies and ideas on the usage of the Library in conjunction with the Head of IT will be essential.

DESIGN & TECHNOLOGY TECHNICIAN
 £15,000 - £22,000 p.a. fte plus generous pension contributions
 Full or part-time (negotiable, min. 28 hpw)

We require a Technician to work primarily for the DT department to be responsible for the preparation of teaching materials, stock control and the maintenance of tools and machines for the department. The department is extremely well equipped with a wide range of machinery including centre lathes, milling machines, vacuum formers and bandsaws. The Technician must be comfortable working with all tools and machinery in the department. In addition, when not required in the DT department, you will undertake maintenance technician responsibilities around the School.

To be successful, you will have related experience ideally with an engineering or related background, be able to demonstrate initiative and be confident working with both staff and pupils in an extremely well resourced and successful department.

28 hours per week (Design & Technology department, term time only) plus up to 12 hours per week as a maintenance technician (hours are flexible/negotiable).

A job description and application form can be downloaded via the Job Opportunities section at www.kgs.org.uk or email Anne Collins at acollins@kgs.org.uk
 Closing date: Wednesday, 28th March 2012.

Kingston Grammar School is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and applicants must be willing to undergo protection screening appropriate to the post, including checks with past employers and the Criminal Records Bureau. Registered Charity No. 1078461.

Right Royal effort from Kingston

Kingston Royals finished fifth overall at the conclusion of the Surrey Swimming Championships at Guildford Spectrum on Sunday, thanks to four more medal-winning efforts.

Joe Clark, 14, claimed silvers in the 100m freestyle and 200m backstroke, while there was also a second place for 12-year-old Izzy Hyatt, pictured right, in the 200m butterfly

Alex Fry, 14, took bronze in the 200m backstroke to take the club's haul to 33 medals – including four golds – in total.

At the double: Kingstonian striker Bobby Traynor, right, against Aveley

Traynor strikes at the double

Kingstonian's two-goal match winner Bobby Traynor may have enjoyed getting back on the scoresheet against Aveley, but he insisted getting three points was more important to him, writes Jamie Cutteridge.

Traynor converted two Sam Clayton crosses in the first half as Ks secured a comfortable 2-0 win that kept Ks in the Ryman Premier League play-off hunt.

The Kingsmeadow star has endured mixed fortunes this term, spending some time on the bench after Christmas as boss Alan Dowson has successfully deployed one man up front in a run that has brought only two defeats in 13 league games.

Traynor hit his second and third goals of 2012 on Saturday and was more than happy to put in a shift for the team.

"The most important thing was the three points and keeping in with a chance of the play-offs," he said.

"Any formation the gaffer chooses is fine with me. It's been doing the trick and we've only lost twice in the last 13 games.

"We've just got to get three points on the board every week."

Goals from Allan Tait and Ian Gayle accounted for Dulwich Hamlet 2-1 in the London Senior Cup on Monday to set Ks up for a semi final visit from Cray Wanderers.

Meanwhile, Ks boss Dowson will resist the urge for major surgery on his squad this summer – depending on how his side finishes the season.

"There will be changes, but the closer we get to the top five in terms of points, the less there will be," he said.

Great expectations for Tom

New Malden's Tom Onslow-Cole can no longer describe himself as a touring cars rookie or a young pretender, or wet behind the ears.

He is a seasoned pro and history says it is seasoned pros that prevail in the British Touring Car Championships – just look at two-time champion and regular front runner 44-year-old Jason Plato and defending champion Matt Neal, 45. The 24-year-old starts his fifth season in the UK's premier domestic motor racing series and is back with the team where it all began in 2007.

Onslow-Cole started his career in a West Surrey Racing-run Team RAC BMW 320i and is back with the Sun-bury-based outfit under a new title sponsor eBay Motors.

Since making his debut for WSR the former Brooklands College student has driven for Vauxhall's VXRacing, Team Aon and AmD Milltek Racing.

In 2010 – with Team Aon – he was in with a chance of winning the crown on the final race weekend at Brands Hatch, but retirements in each of the final three races saw him finish the season fourth in the rankings.

He returns to a team that won the drivers and team championships in 2009, and with seven career race wins and a total of 26 podiums finishes to his name, he returns with expectations high.

"I wouldn't say there is any added pressure. Being in a team like this is what you want. It is where you want to be," he said at Silverstone this week.

"You want to be at the front and fighting.

"I feel excited, but a little underprepared. We haven't had as much testing time as we would have liked, but then again you always want more.

"There is not much development to do because the car is five years old, but it is a case of how quickly we adapt to the new rules.

"We have got an old spec car with a new spec engine. I think that on any given day with the same equipment, same tyres, same fuel, and same turbo boosts, we have winning car."

First on the calendar is Brands Hatch on April 1 – where he has one race win – and Onslow-Cole expects to start the season in style, depending on what the other teams bring to the party.

"When I was driving the car in 2007 there were tracks that were branded BMW tracks and ones that weren't," he added.

"In recent years they have got the car performing everywhere and at Brands Hatch we expect to have good pace."

Heptonstall relishes hockey double bid

Surbiton Ladies captain Vicky Heptonstall has said securing a Women's National Cup final berth will be the perfect warm-up for a successful promotion play-off campaign, writes Danny Butterwick.

The Long-Ditton-based outfit beat Harleston Magpies 2-0 at Sugden Road on Sunday to clinch the Investec Women's Hockey League Conference East title with one game – at Sevenoaks on Saturday – still to play.

Surbiton will now bid to reach the Premier Division via the play-offs, which start on March 31 against either Buckingham or Swansea of the Conference West.

to reach a second successive final – and Heptonstall relished the challenge.

She said: "I think if we play to our best, we've got nothing to lose.

"It will give us some good preparation going into the play-off games against the other Premier Division sides.

"We want to put in a good performance in our last league game as well."

Surbiton, who had goals from Becky Merchant and Amy Bryant to thank for the weekend win, narrowly missed out on the league title last season.

And the skipper reckoned that experience had played a part in this season's success.

"Last season, we weren't consistent week in, week out," added Heptonstall.

"This year, we've been more focused. Our aim was to win the league and we have achieved that. The girls have a lot more belief because we got so close last year."

SPORTSbrief

RUGBY UNION: Kingston's Amy Turner came off the bench to help England Women secure their seventh successive Six Nations crown and a Grand Slam at Esher RFC on Saturday. Skipper Katy McLean lifted the trophy after a 23-6 win over Ireland on St Patrick's Day at Molesey Road, hours before England's men – led by Kingston-based Chris Robshaw – beat the men in green 30-9 at a rainswept Twickenham. The women finished the campaign unbeaten and defended their title without conceding a try – the first side to achieve that feat.

SCHOOLS SPORT: Kingston Grammar School's girls hockey first team lost their national schools hockey tournament title earlier this month with a 3-1 final defeat to Repton School. Coach Natalie Bell said: "We played some great hockey to be 1-0 up at half time, but Repton came out fighting and some defensive errors put them back in it. I am incredibly proud of the girls but disappointed for them."

HOCKEY: Surbiton's men are assured of a place in the combined top-five end-of-season English Hockey Championship and European play-offs following a 1-1 draw at University of Exeter on Saturday. James Ashcroft scored Surbiton's equaliser. The Long Ditton-based club bid to improve on their current fifth place at already-crowned league winners East Grinstead this Sunday.

NETBALL: Former Tiffin School for Girls student Hannah Reid helped Surrey Storm start the second phase of the Fiat Netball Superleague in style with a 66-48 win at Team Bath on Friday night. Storm are currently playing-off with Hertfordshire Mavericks, Team Bath and Northern Thunder for a place in the semi-finals. They go to the Mavericks this Friday.

FOOTBALL: Corinthian Casuals lost 1-0 at home to Merstham at the weekend ahead of Saturday's trip to Burgess Hill Town.
